Tanjung Datu comprises a narrow strip of forested hills and stunning beaches with clear emerald green waters. Located at the southwestern tip of Sarawak, Tanjung Datu is one of the Sarawak's smallest national parks but it is perhaps the most beautiful. A key attraction of its seclusion. The park's remoteness means that the beaches are pristine and the rainforest intact. The park is home to a variety of wildlife include Borneon gibbons, pig-tailed macaques, long tailed macaque monkeys, silver-leaf monkeys, civet cats, bearded pigs, diverse birdlife and more. Green turtles also nest on the park's beaches from April to September. 0850-0915hrs: pick-up from hotel in Kuching and proceed by road (approx. 2 hours) to the small coastal town of Sematan, have an early lunch in a local coffee shop or restaurant and then continue by road to the Malay Fishing village of Serabang. Around 1300hrs take a boat (approx. 20 mins) to Tanjung Datu National Park. Arrive at Tanjung Datu National Park, walk across the beach and settle in at the park HQ. (Note: when the tide is low or sea conditions prevent boat landings at the park HQ, arrival is at a nearby small bay (Telok Upas) followed by a 15mins walk to the park HQ) After settling in go on short walk on either the Telok Upas, Viewpoint or Belian trails. Return to the park HQ around 1600hrs. The rest of the day is at your own leisure. Relax on the beach, have a swim or visit the turtle hatchery. Enjoy dinner at the park HQ. After dark go on short night walk and search for wildlife such as wild boar, sambar deer, mouse deer, barking deer, civet cats and other nocturnal creatures. Return to the park HQ. Your guide will inform you if any turtles come ashore at night to nest. If so, the rangers will allow you to watch the turtles but only when they have started laying eggs. Please note turtle sightings area not guaranteed. Overnight at park camping shelters.

Day 03 : Tanjung Datu National Park (Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner)

After breakfast, around 0800hrs go for a jungle trek along the Pasir Antu Laut trail. Enjoy the forest scenery along the 2.7km trail and keep a look out for wildlife. Gibbons, banded langurs and hornbills are sometimes spotted on this trail. Midway along the trail you will come to a small stream. Take a short break before continuing through the pristine forest to Antu Laut Beach. Have a swim at the beach and returning along the forest trail. Half way along the trail turn left onto a small track that leads to the main turtle beach. Huge boulders are found along the coast here where the rainforest runs right down to the beach. Admire the views before walking back along the beach to the park HQ arriving around 1300-1400hrs. Have a late lunch at the park HQ. Rest of the day is free at leisure. Go snorkeling near Telok Upas or alternatively go for another walk or relax on the beach. Dinner at the park HQ. If there is a turtle landing your guide will wake you up during night. Overnight at the campaign shelters.
